DEXUS announces appointment of Head of Investments & Strategy (Industrial)

DEXUS Property Group (ASX: DXS) today announced the appointment of George Dimos as Head of Investments & Strategy for the Industrial team. George will be based in the Group's Sydney office and will report to Andrew Whiteside, Head of Industrial.

George joins DEXUS with over 15 years of experience in industrial property and law, most recently as National Manager for Industrial Property and Capital Transactions at Coles Group Ltd where he was responsible for managing the Group's industrial portfolio, including its strategic development. In particular, he managed the development of approximately $1 billion of new distribution centres across Australia.

Andrew Whiteside said Mr Dimos's appointment would add strength to the Industrial team and support the Group's overall strategy to build on our position as a leading owner, manager and developer of quality industrial space.

"I am very excited to welcome George aboard, he brings a strong track record of developing and implementing strategies for growth that will further enhance our industrial capabilities."
